

ALLIES FORCE GERMANS TO RENEWED ACTIVITY ON THE BELGIAN FRONT

FRENCH CLAIM GERMAN OFFENSIVE REPULSED IN FLANDERS WHERE YPRES IS AGAIN BOMBARDED.

NO LULL IN THE EAST

Campaign in Central Poland and Galicia Continues With Unabated Fury—Kaiser Is Still Confined To His Bed.

The naval battle in the South Atlantic and the illness of Emperor William diverted attention today from the struggles in Belgium, France and Germany.

The latest report concerning the condition of Emperor William was that he was unable to leave his bed and that his fever had not decreased. There is no official confirmation, however, of reports that the emperor is suffering from pneumonia.

The German armies in the west have been stirred to renewed activity by the offensive movement of the allies, as is shown not only by their sharp attacks on Flanders, but by their attempted advances in the department of Oise, which the French war office says was repulsed. Ypres and Furnes are again reported under heavy bombardment by the Germans.

An official Russian statement shows that there had been no lull in the fighting in the east, with almost unceasing activity for a fortnight. Both in central Poland and in Galicia the Russian statement reports the Germans are making attacks after attacks in attempts to pierce the Russian line.

Petrograd asserts that these assaults have been repulsed with heavy losses for the Germans, but it is reported in Berlin that in the battle near Gnesow, Galicia, both Russian wings have been beaten back.

The German line that stretches across France for more than 200 miles is said by the French war office to be giving away before the attack from Berlin today, although the fighting in France, although not setting that the allies in one instance were repulsed with heavy losses.

The French announcement says that the allies have prosecuted the offensive successfully at points scattered much of the way across the country. Specific mention is made of the capture of trenches, of victories in artillery duels, and of advances of 200 to 600 yards. These onslaughts have led to spirited counter-attacks by the Germans yesterday are said to have made no less than six of these attempts in the Argonne.

The German statement is confined so far as the fighting in the west is concerned, to a reference to the conflict in the Argonne where it is stated an attack of the French was repulsed.

The German military authorities say that in the east the advance along the Vistula river is continuing and that a small Polish town has been captured. As to the campaign in

BUILDING WARSHIPS ON IMMENSE SCALE IN BRITISH YARDS

Nine Thousand Men Employed Day and Night at Devonport Rushing Fighting Craft to Completion.

New York, Dec. 10.—An American visitor to England, just returned to New York, who through mere chance was afforded exceptional opportunity to inspect the vast naval plant at Devonport, declares that what is going forward at express speed behind the walls of Britain's navy yards, if it were known to the German authorities, would dispel all their Teutonic belief that Admiral Jellicoe's fleet intends to restrict its activities to blockading the North sea and keeping the Atlantic and other oceans clear of the enemy's vessels.

Within six months the lists of the royal navy will be augmented by six super-dreadnoughts and eight cruisers from its yards at Devonport and Portsmouth alone. All of these ships will be equipped defensively and offensively with the most powerful armament of their respective classes now afloat. At least one of the super-dreadnoughts, for example, will be equipped with a main battery of four 15-inch guns, and will have a range of 18 miles.

England's navy builders are not confining their attention solely to cruisers and super-dreadnoughts. The new British torpedo boat destroyer fleet, which is going into commission, is the largest vessel of its type afloat. She has a displacement of 1,325 tons and has an average speed of 35 miles an hour, making her one of the speediest of war craft. The Swift is equipped with four rapid fire guns, throwing fifteen 25-pound projectiles per minute.

It is impossible to reveal what the circumstances were under which an American was enabled to roam practically at will about an establishment which British naval men declare is the biggest in the world. It is equally out of the question for him to narrate for publication all that he saw, particularly as not being a naval man he could not understand fully the more technical features of the spectacle. Under the new defense of the realm act, recently passed, even the wholly harmless parts of his description render him subject to trial by court martial.

Working Day and Night.

For instance, it cannot harm the admiralty's program to have it known that no less than 9,000 men are employed night and day at the Devonport station, and that there are always some 5,000 sailors and marines on guard in the harbor, ready to fight without or within, which latter refers to the very real peril of espionage. Yet were the identity of the American visitor known, he might be proceeded against for such a disclosure.

Recently in the house of commons Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, stated that Great Britain could lose a super-dreadnought every month for twelve months without her superiority over the German navy being affected. He was referring to the period Germany suffered the loss of not a single ship.

It is easy to understand the first lord's meaning when one realizes that what he stated there will be six super-dreadnoughts ready to go out of Plymouth and Portsmouth harbors into the battle line, and furthermore, the time plans for the construction of such a fleet are being drawn up until the day she sets out on her trial only eighteen months must elapse. Incidentally every part of a super-dreadnought is equipped with guns can be built in the navy yard.

SHORTAGE OF OFFICERS IN THE SERBIAN ARMY.

(Correspondence of The A. P.)

Nish, Serbia, Dec. 10.—There is a shortage of officers in the Serbian army, not only in the service line, but also in the staff. The losses sustained by the Serbian army of the campaign, but also to the losses of the two Balkan Wars. The gaps have proved a source of considerable embarrassment to the army, and a number of young officers from the Military College have now been given commissions and sent to the front.

Another source of serious concern in army circles is the difficulty of caring properly for the wounded, who are being sent into the interior from the front. The number of Red Cross units from foreign countries on the ground, there is still a shortage of trained help, and a still more shortage of drugs and of surgical and hygienic appliances.

Making the Store Pay.

Every foot of available floor space that does not have a customer in it is dead expense.

There are many ways a retailer can assist in keeping his store busy.

He can give good service, sell at fair prices, and he can advertise these facts in his home newspapers.

He should also take full advantage of the manufacturer's advertising.

When the national manufacturer advertises his product in the newspapers, the retailer should take advantage of this advertising by showing the goods and drawing the people to his store.

Turkey fully guarantees it will facilitate the distribution of all supplies sent from the United States and assures Mr. Morgenthau that no requisition will be made on any of the ships. Consequently the request is made that the Turkish government be notified of the name of the relief ship which probably will be sent to Jaffa, the port of Jerusalem.

Word that Jerusalem was short of food supplies and that famine was imminent came in private dispatches, and the relief was immediately started in organizing a relief expedition.

PUT EDISON'S LOSS AT SEVEN MILLION

Fire Levels Eleven Buildings of Plant at West Orange.—Plans to Rebuild Outlined at Once.

West Orange, N. J., Dec. 10.—When the fire which swept the ten-acre manufacturing plant of the Thomas A. Edison Company here today was extinguished, a hurried inventory of the eighteen buildings that had been destroyed and others had been damaged, and that the loss would be approximately $7,000,000. Seven thousand men are employed at the plant, and half of these will be out of work tomorrow.

The entire force of the employees was put to work at removing the debris. Under the executive supervision of Thomas A. Edison they began tearing down the concrete walls which had to be removed while the embers were being cooled. Immediate steps to rebuild have been taken.

At least one man perished and two others are missing in the fire which destroyed the Edison plant here.

Flames were beaten back from the laboratory and work shops of Mr. Edison, where were stored innumerable every corner of the plant, the result of more than thirty years of the inventor's efforts. At the height of the fire a force of men removed the most valuable records of Mr. Edison's home in Llewellyn park, not far away.

TWO LINERS HASTEN TO AID OF STEAMER

Coastwise Vessel in Distress Off California Sends Out Wireless Appeal for Help.

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Dec. 10.—The liners Harvard and Bear are rushing to the assistance of the passenger-carrying steamer Arcturion, which is anchored five miles south of Point Arguilla light on the California coast, north of the Santa Barbara Islands. The Arcturion's machinery is disabled, and a strong southerly wind has been threatening to drive her ashore.

The first wireless call for help from the Arcturion was picked up at the radio station at Point Arguilla at 3 a. m. It asked the operator to ask the steamer Arcturion to come as fast as possible in the morning. The liner Harvard reported at 5 p. m. from a position off Point Arguilla that she was going to the steamer's assistance.

The Arcturion, a wooden vessel of 485 tons, is bound for Los Angeles for San Francisco. The number of passengers on board is not known. The coast in the neighborhood of Point Arguilla is a dangerous one and peril, as the coast line runs almost directly east and west.

PROPOSE BIG NITROGEN PLANT AT SAN FRANCISCO

Search for a Suitable Site Now Under Way—Plant Will Call for the Investment of $500,000 Will Be Established in California.

San Francisco, Dec. 10.—If the search for a suitable site for a hydro-electric plant site now under way is successful, an entirely new industry will be called for the investment of $500,000 will be established in California. The industry is the manufacture of nitrogen compounds, such as ammonia and nitrate, by the electric process. The site is something new in the United States, but is a demonstrated success in Norway.

Walter V. Clark, a mining and hydraulic engineer from New York, is making the preliminary search for a site.

"I've already examined two sites in the north," he said, "and there are other proposed sites that will be examined before the final decision as to location is made. I am making the investigation in behalf of some New York men who are familiar with what has been done in Norway."

The production of nitrogen compounds, commercially from the inert nitrogen of the air, is something of recent years. In Norway at the present time about 2,000,000 horsepower of energy is used for this purpose. The site looking for is a dam site with sufficient watershed and with enough of drop to generate constantly from 40,000 to 60,000 horsepower.

There are several processes employed in Norway all depending on the same principle. They are producing nitric acid and the valuable nitrate profitably, and there should be an opening for an industry of the same sort on the coast."

DANIELS IN FAVOR OF NORMAL GROWTH FOR THE U. S. NAVY

HEAD OF DEPARTMENT GIVES REASONS FOR POLICY OF STEADY DEVELOPMENT.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

Opposes Undue Extravagance in Naval Program in Testimony Before House Naval Affairs Committee.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Secretary Daniels was the star witness today before the house committee on naval affairs.

"I have recommended this year that we continue the regular and normal construction recommended last year," said the secretary. "It seems to me a wise policy for steady enlargement. This includes two dreadnoughts, six destroyers, eight submarines, and seven or more of the coast defense type) one gunboat and one other. The president approves this."

Mr. Daniels characterized as "extravagant" suggestions that in the light of European experience, there should be 100 submarines and fifty battleships. "The president," he said, "believes in the steady development of the navy."

"The president," he added, "recommended that congress make the navy more powerful than the orderlies we had in the last war."

"For the first time for many years the navy strength of personnel is service we have offered for an asking for men at this congress. We must, however, ask for them as session of congress. I am asking for more men. It is unnecessary to have enough men at this time to man all the ships in the navy. We have on every ship in ordinary and in reserve, enough men to man them. We ought to have not more than 200 of our ships in commission at any one time. We have 223 ships in all. We have now ninety per cent of our fighting force in full commission and will keep that up."

Secretary Daniels said that he was asking this congress to authorize a reserve of former sailors of the navy which he said would in ten days produce "25,000 picked men for service."

No Time for Disarmament.

Universal disarmament Mr. Daniels thought practical, but only by international agreement.

"In my last report," he said, "I expressed the hope that the day would come when this feverish haste and competition in costly engines would stop, and if this rivalry goes on, the burden will become too heavy for any nation to bear."

"We will be in better position to propose disarmament if we were to stop the heavy building program," asked Representative Butler.

"No," replied the secretary, "it would be unwise to act today in any particular. I do not think we have acted if there had been no war in Europe. After the European war is over, we will learn a great many lessons. We will learn a great mistake if we were now to say that we hoped for universal disarmament. We should stop now. We would be in a position to say that we were to quit now."

Secretary Daniels emphatically disapproved any increase in naval strength over what had been recommended. He assailed the report of the navy general board last year which made the sweeping declaration as to lack of a white policy as "very unwise." He did not agree with the board that the lack of policy might put the country in a position that might result in a world war, although he praised the members of the board as very able men.

Secretary Daniels said that while the American navy should be "steadily strengthened," an "orderly way" each year, the sentiment that the American people was against making the United States into a military nation in competition with the heavily armed powers of Europe.

The secretary's declarations today close upon the remarkable testimony of Rear Admiral Fletcher, commander of the Atlantic fleet, who yesterday told the committee there was only one navy in the world—England's—and that the United States was not equal, came as a climax to two days' discussion of the preparedness of the nation for defense.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Inquiry into the condition of the American navy in the light of the European war, was continued to open session today before the house naval affairs committee. Secretary Daniels was invited as a principal witness before the committee.

Committees were still discussing today the remarkable testimony of Rear Admiral Fletcher, commander of the Atlantic fleet, before the committee yesterday, when he frankly discussed the condition of the navy as contrasted with the navies of the present warring nations.

The assertion was made by the admiral that with the exception of Great Britain, the American navy could successfully defend itself against the navy of any other nation.

REPORT HERRING FISHERY AS MAKING FAIR YIELD

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 10.—Reports from the winter herring fishery off the west coast of Newfoundland, now in mid-season, indicates that the catch will be fairly large.

Of this approximately two-thirds goes to the United States and remaining third to Canada. The herring is used partly for food purposes when smoked, but are chiefly valuable as a bait for the cod fishery.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES MAP OUT CHRISTMAS CAMPAIGN AT MEETING WEDNESDAY.

ARE RECEIVING FUNDS

Cash Donations Are Being Left At Gazette Office Daily.—Will Your Contribution Be the Next?

"We have a list of fifty families that must be provided with Christmas dinners and two hundred children to whom we intend to distribute toys," declared one of the officers of the Associated Charities today, in discussing the plans for the Christmas campaign. This will mean that a fairly large sized fund must be raised within the next week in order that every detail can be arranged to guard against all disappointments.

Funds are being received daily at the Gazette office, where the Associated Charities has left the subscription list. Several very substantial donations have been made, but the small gifts ranging from fifty cents to a dollar or two are just as welcome. Give what you think you can afford, but remember that in your giving you are conforming to the true spirit of Christmas.

At the meeting of the directors of the Associated Charities at the city hall Wednesday afternoon, plans were discussed for the Christmas work as well as other important business, including the adoption of a new constitution. The society is now fully organized for the work, and through the efforts of various committees will be able to take care for the needy families in a systematic and satisfactory manner.

Under the new constitution the general secretary of the society is the executive officer of the organization and coordinates the various departments of the work. All applications for relief are referred to him, who in turn gives them over to the various vice presidents for investigation. Experience has proved that the association that involves the aid of all charity cases is necessary in order to prevent the underserving from imposing upon the society.

At the meeting yesterday Miss Josephine Carle was elected president of the board, Rev. George Edwin Purdum and Mrs. H. W. Moon vice presidents.

Mrs. John G. Rexford treasurer, and Rev. Henry Williamson general secretary. Mrs. F. J. Dwyer and Mrs. Rexford were new members elected to the board of directors.

The directors will be able to furnish a list of needy families to churches or other organizations that are planning on separate charity work. If these societies will report to the Associated Charities care can be taken against all duplications in the distribution of Christmas relief.

START EARLY NEXT WEEK.

It is practically assured by City Clerk J. P. The apportioning of the taxes has been completed and the books will be warranted and proved this week, to be submitted to the council. As soon as the tax books are closed the fund appropriations will be immediately credited to the funds from the balances remaining in the city treasury. The school fund balances this year of $2,913.87 compared to $1,085.00 in last year makes it certain that no loans will be necessary under ordinary tax finance conditions.

City Commission to Bring Problem
Up at Meeting Scheduled for Friday Afternoon.

What to do with the number of transients that daily inhabit Janesville and seek refuge in the city hall station, this problem confronted the Police P. D. Commission and will be taken up by the city council at their adjourned meeting, Friday afternoon.

The past policy of the police chiefs was to turn out the transients without food in the morning, with instructions to leave town. As a result the men who have slept at the police station must have sustenance and they go to the residential districts begging for food. Complaints have been numerous to the police department of late from this class of transients. The problem is a serious one, as to keep the "visitors" from begging from the "visitors" who are in a deadly fear of them. The problem is presented to the council today and the commissioners declared some means should be provided to carry out the feeding of the men to protect the public.

By this plan it is hoped to eliminate the begging evil and still not advertise the fact that Janesville is a welcome place for the wayfarer.

Since the coming of more severe weather, the police station has almost been taxed to hold the "flop" men, as the police call the transients. An average of ten applying for lodging every night. Because of the limited number of cell bunks, the most of the men are obliged to sleep on the floor or on the benches. In the greater majority of cases, the men have adopted the "I. W. W." principle—that I won't work, I won't starve. The men have been offered them, were refused. Chief Champlin had instructions to send all men possible to a small village north of Janesville, where a water pump was being constructed. One of the men would go, even when carfare was offered to them by the contractors.

A typical case of the hardships of finding work came to the police this week. A youth named Joseph Lindberg of St. Paul, Minnesota, was out of work and he started with his savings to Milwaukee for the city hall. In Janesville he became stranded, and for thirty-six hours went without food and lodging, his pride preventing him from appealing for aid from the police. He did not even ask for a stamp to warn his parents of his plight or means of communicating with them. On Monday he finally appealed to Chief Champlin for aid, and told of his difficulties. Chief Champlin at once telegraphed the young man's parents. A subscription was taken among the police to tide Lindberg over until his parents replied.

The youth was unwise to the ways of transients, and did not dare to ask for aid. He was last night the aid came to him, and it was a happy and wise young man that left on the night train for St. Paul. Lindberg fully agrees that the Janesville police are the worst fellows in his acquaintance.

HONORS JANESVILLE STUDENTS AT BELOIT

Misses Marion B. Matheson and Margaret H. Jeffris Are Placed on Honor Roll by Dean of Beloit College.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Dec. 10.—Two students from Janesville are included in an honor roll of seven students announced by the dean of Beloit college today.

Miss Marion B. Matheson, daughter of Trustee A. B. Matheson of the college, ranks eleventh, and Miss Margaret H. Jeffris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jeffris, ranks sixteenth. The list is a report of the relative standing in honor grades based on the mid-semester records. It includes the names of students who, if they were graduated in their present standing, would finish their courses with honors. Twelve of the seventeen are young women. The two Janesville residents included are the only Wisconsin Beloiters whose names appear in the list. The complete honor roll of names is as follows: Miss Frances L. Hill, Beloit, Wis.; Miss Olive M. King, Elgin, Ill.; Theodore Miles, Mt. Carroll, Ill.; Miss Gladys Brand, Elgin, Ill.; Miss Marion B. Matheson, Janesville, Wis.; Miss B. Andre, Beloit, Wis.; Paul L. Frodrip, Beloit, Wis.; Miss Lillian J. Cloud, Kewnanee, Ill.; Miss Evelyn Gardner, Chicago, Ill.; Paul A. Pratt, Beloit, Wis.; Miss Marion E. Matheson, Janesville, Wis.; Miss Miriam E. Hubbard, Beloit, Wis.; Miss Martha C. Boyd, Chicago, Ill.; Burdette J. Eldred, Jr., Beloit, Wis.; Miss Clara B. Labrop, Beloit, Wis.; Miss Margaret H. Jeffris, Janesville, Wis.; Lowry S. Moore, Beloit, Wis.

SEALS DISTRIBUTED TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Hundreds of Youngsters Enrolled as Canvassers in Sale of Red Cross
Christmas Stamps.

The campaign for the sale of Red Cross Christmas Stamps is vigorously going forward. The factories, stores and offices in the city are being visited by the secretary of the local Anti-Tuberculosis Association and he is meeting with much encouragement. From now until Christmas every letter going out of Janesville should have a Red Cross Seal on the back. Every Christmas package you send away should carry a seal, bringing with it a message of good cheer. The seal has the most jovial looking Santa on an ever saw-uss it.

The school children of the city have been eagerly awaiting the time for them to begin the campaign. They carried today and every house in Janesville should receive a call from these active little fellows. Encourage them by taking as many as you can use and paste one on your door knob or bell where it can be seen.

In Bible times you remember the children of Israel sprinkled the blood of the lamb on the lintel and side posts and the angel of death spared all those houses having the seal. You will be spared much bother if you have a Red Cross seal on your post. Every child who is out canvassing for seals will look for the sign before ringing the bell.

Many persons are using the seals on their checks as well as on letters in this way voluntarily fixing themselves to help in the war against diseases, especially tuberculosis. Every child selling 100 or more seals will be given a prize, it being a copy of the Campaign with a review and many interesting pictures of the war against the white plague.

Sell your house or any other piece of real estate by putting it through the want ad column—the cost is but a trifle.

Wednesday's Market.
Chicago, Dec. 10.—Two loads of extra heavy beefs prepared for the international show sold yesterday to Swift and Sulzberger & Sons for Christmas trade at $13 per 100 lbs., averaging 1,300@1,218 lbs.

They were within 15c of last year's top for show yearlings, when they sold in the auction ring.

Cattle trade yesterday was active as strong to unevenly higher prices, the top for regular heavy steers being $11.25, the highest of the year. A good many "show" beefs sold at $11.50@13, but they are not counted in with the market cattle.

Hog and Lamb Markets.
Receipts of hogs and lambs yesterday were again below all expectations and prices opened sharply higher, but were within 15c of last year's top for finish hogs, closing especially weak in the quarantine division.

Receipts for today are estimated at 55,000 cattle, 40,000 hogs and 25,000 sheep, against 15,240 cattle, 7,051 hogs and 35,140 sheep a week ago and 24,210 cattle, 48,985 hogs and 45,225 sheep corresponding Thursday a week ago.

Quality was best in some times, there being a liberal proportion of choice 210 @225 lb. butchers among the arrivals. Late quarantine prices were 20 @25c lower than the clean division, the Anglo getting 3,000 butchers averaging 210 lbs. in quarantine at a cost of $7.05. ## MODERN INDUSTRY AT HOME.

The survey has the following to say about the Belgian workman before the present war destroyed his home, his business and almost his very existence and identity. It paints a picture that is most interesting and one which in view of the destruction and general want of Belgium today is most timely contrast.

"Until the war broke out, the Belgians undoubtedly were the best housed nation in Europe. If the invading armies had concentrated their destructive talents on the low confined slum areas of the great cities, we should find little cause to complain. But unfortunately, when we look at the devastation of whole villages, we must remember that a considerable number of the inhabitants are not only of the agricultural but also of the industrial population—habitations which are the envy of the workers of other lands, have been destroyed.

"Belgian workers, by means of a rapid train service at cheap fares, are enabled to live distributed over a wide semi-rural area, and villages have been kept down and healthy. The workers—their choice of employment—in increased even though they own their houses. Though the great majority of them only live a few miles from the place where they work, they are able, if necessary, to look for employment at distances of fifty miles and more.

"Residence in the country, with a fair-sized garden attached to most houses, has other advantages which go a long way to compensate for the loss in travel. The Brussels bricklayer, when work is scarce, stays at home working on his garden plot or for a neighboring farmer, and leaves what jobs there are to his fortunate man who lives in the town itself.

"The Antwerp dockers do not hang about the dock gates waiting for a ship to arrive, but wait in his own village the telephone call of the labor bureau. He usually has a side of bacon, a sack of potatoes, and other food, about his home, and does not starve the moment the work comes to a halt. His children are brought up amid rural surroundings, and there is not the same cleavage between industrial and agricultural employment as there is, for instance, in England. Scarcely the Belgian miner is a scab, and underneath his prime you will find a peasant. He is able to go back to work on the land if circumstances incline him to do so.

THE WISCONSIN IDEA.

Governor Robert M. La Follette, at the banquet of the Wisconsin Society in Chicago last evening, made some expressions of the future of the Wisconsin idea that should interest the reading public at this time when the change in administration is but a week away. Mr. La Follette said, among other things, that the Wisconsin idea and many of its offshoots, including the primary law, are detrimental rather than helpful, and the state is burdened with excessive taxes, superannuated commissions and superfluous laws. He said he was going to wipe out many of those undesirable products of the Wisconsin idea.

"There is a danger to be a house-planting of a radical nature," said Mr. La Follette. "Some people in Wisconsin really have ideas, and out of them was the enactment of a primary election law in 1900. It was supposed to be a panacea for all ills, to place the government closer to the people. It has failed of its purpose and has sent the government further away from the people.

"We have lost of laws in Wisconsin. No plane of human life exists but what is regulated by some law. Our expense has grown some 400 per cent during the last four years, and our taxes are unbearable. All this is a result of the Wisconsin idea and the elective system. I defy any man in Wisconsin to define what party he belongs to.

"Another Wisconsin idea is the primary law, a political machine to put up two or more opposition candidates and procure the nomination of a minority candidate.

"I purpose to change this system and to repeal that law if possible, and place our elective system on a good American plan which will let the people be responsible for elective offices as the constitution intended.

"Many commissions have been appointed and they have removed from control of the people the power of state government and placed it in the hands of a few individuals."

MEXICO AGAIN.

Once more it has been necessary to rush troops to the Mexican frontier to compel the fighting residents south of the Rio Grande to respect the rights of American citizens across the border and at least not shoot them down in cold blood just for the fun of the thing. The fact that the United States sent several thousand troops to Vera Cruz, cleaned up the city, placed business on a sound basis, and then quietly retired without even taking redress for the loss of the brave machine and sailors who died at the time of the landing of the hundreds of others who were shot down in the interior, gives the average "greaser" an idea that he can do as he likes with the "Pigs of Gringos" as long as the present administrative policy of non intervention exists. The time will come when Mexico will have to be turned up and given a sound spanking but not yet. It will come when the people on this border rise in their might and cross the imaginary line and take the law in their own hands and not until, unless there is a sudden change of heart down at Washington. Meanwhile down in the central part of the republic civil war rages and Villa and Carranza and their followers are fighting out just as they did in the days of Huerta, Diaz or other Mexican dictators. It is good training for the soldiers of the regular army but rather expensive field service taking it all in all.

SHOULD GIVE THANKS.

This is a period when songs of praise and thanksgiving should rise from every community that is blessed with steady work, with factories, business continuing as usual and bank balances throughout the country in far better shape than a year ago. Some sections of the country may cry hard times, but the spirit of optimism in southern Wisconsin is not hard to trace to the actual fact that there have not been any real hard times here at all and conditions are getting better if anything.

President Wilson characterized his address to congress by praise of the democratic party and the policies which he had outlined and enforced. Meanwhile the people are paying the democratic deficiency tax to cover up one of the many blunders made in the tariff and congress continues to plan further roundups upon the national treasury while they have an opportunity.

It will take fifty years to wipe out the ravages of war in unfortunate Belgium and meanwhile millions of its citizens are actually suffering for want of food and warm clothing. Here is a little nation practically destroyed, merely because it asserted its independence and demanded the observance of treaty obligations.

Now that the old board of directors of the Park association have been re-elected let everyone get busy and prepare for the big Janesville Fair of Nineteen Fifteen. It is going to be something to talk about in future years.

The more fact that a good fall of snow would do much to help stamp out the foot and mouth disease in enough of itself to command the work of cleaning walks to every thinking property owner.

This holiday season will be enjoyed all the more if some sacrifice is made for the benefit of the unfortunate to whom Christmas would not come unless through the efforts of some organization which looks after their welfare.

When it comes to plowing through a snow drift the good old fashioned method of transportation, the faithful horse, beats an automobile all hollow.

OREGON CONFERENCE IN CONVENTION THIS WEEK.

MUKONO, Ore., Dec. 10.—Called for the purpose of hearing reports of the various churches in the region, the Oregon conference of the United Methodist church will convene here today.

The conference will continue over Saturday and the time will be spent in the discussion of the recommendations of the three committees.

On Saturday committees will be appointed each of which will draft the recommendations of the conference upon its special problem and will submit these recommendations to the proper committee in the Oregon legislature which convenes in January.

The regular session of the conference is held annually and is participated in by citizens of all political parties and creeds. The purpose of the congress is to harmonize differences, get united action from such bodies as those dealing with labor, taxation, exchange, laws and state and municipal uplift movements.

Events of Suddenness.

There are three things that come suddenly to mortals; they are life, death, and love. One moment we are, the next we are not; one moment our hearts are cold, the next they are on fire.—J. R. Wallace

OUR National Opportunity LESSONS for AMERICA from the WAR

NATIONAL OPPORTUNITY. WE MUST BREAK SOME OLD HABITS.

(By George H. Benedict)
Inertia is the biggest obstacle in the way of living up to our national opportunity.

"We get into fixed habits of buying. Along comes a great public calamity like the present war, and we test the strength of inertia by trying to throw it off as a means of helping our home enterprises. Only to find that it cannot be thrown off so easily."

A young newspaper man of my acquaintance wanted a pair of gloves. He went to the salesman in the furnishings store he frequented.

"Show me some gloves that were made in the U. S. A."

"All right," said the salesman. "I'll show you some made in Gloversville, N. Y." And he opened a box. The first thing that caught the eye of the prospective purchaser was the slogan, "Made in England," which loomed up in clear letters on the inside of the gloves.

"There is such a demand for English gloves," the salesman explained, "that this American maker tries to put off his goods as of English manufacture."

"You may show me," said the newspaper man, "some gloves made in America and not ashamed of it."

Not every buyer is so careful to call for goods of home manufacture. Most of us are indifferent, or if not indifferent, we often buy imported tion, and the possibility, financially, of developing and fostering more extensive use of electricity in every day needs of the home, factory and farm through the creation of hydro-electric districts, a special meeting of the Oregon Commonwealth Conference was opened here today.

The conference will continue over Saturday and the time will be spent in the discussion of the recommendations of the three committees.

On Saturday committees will be appointed each of which will draft the recommendations of the conference upon its special problem and will submit these recommendations to the proper committee in the Oregon legislature which convenes in January.

The regular session of the conference is held annually and is participated in by citizens of all political parties and creeds. The purpose of the congress is to harmonize differences, get united action from such bodies as those dealing with labor, taxation, exchange, laws and state and municipal uplift movements.

English Soldiers ON DISPUTED ISLE

Small Island in Channel, Leased German Prince by British Government.

(Correspondence of The A. P.)

London, Dec. 10.—One of the strangest stories that has been given birth by the great war is that of the island of Horn, the leasing of which to a German company was recently discussed in the House of Commons.

The lease has been terminated, and British troops are billeted on the island, but the question is still being asked, why was England so lax as to rent for a long an island larger than the island of Heligoland, with an hour's steaming of English waters?

Horn is one of the lesser channel islands and at one time supported a considerable population. It is a beautiful spot, with a fine harbor and a shell beach. In 1890 it was leased by the Crown for $70, a year to the "West Bank Limited," which in turn leased it to Prince Blucher von Bismarck, a descendant of the illustrious Blucher of 1806 and his son, a German. The Prince and his family lived quietly for years in the minor house on the island, incurring the usual displeasure of those who sought to remove the Prince from the island by closing all save one narrow pathway on the beach and plastering about the walls with transmitters.

Children were born to the Prince's family and one of those, a boy, became a naturalized British subject. At a time when the Prince suspected of being his own father's enemy, he was taken to England, and when the war broke out the matter became one of national agitation culminating in an explanation by Sir William Hall, the Government spokesman, that the German company holding the lease, about five millions six hundred a year, had been taken to cancel this document, that for some weeks British troops had been on the island, and that the Prince Blucher family had moved from the Manor House to the island.

The popular outcry against the Prince, in the opinion of the London press, is not unjustified, but the Prince's remarks rather surprised the public, who might be told a little more about the German company, which was able to acquire so cheaply so much good farm and pasture land, together with numerous cottages, not to mention the Manor House, and in the heart of the English Channel, within a few miles of the coast of France, about 70 miles from Portland and 40 from Cherbourg. It might be used as a submarine base, though nothing of the kind appears to have been attempted.

JURIST PROPHECIES WAVE OF DEMOCRACY

Chief Justice Winslow in Article Just Published Sees Indications of a Democratic Era.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 10.—The great wave of democracy which is sweeping over the earth will be one of the events of momentous significance to this century, according to Chief Justice J. B. Winslow of the Wisconsin supreme court. An article on the "Modern Democracy" written by Justice Winslow appears as the leading article in a fifteen volume set of books on "Modern American Law," which is just being issued.
"It can hardly be doubted that before the lapse of many years practically every citizen of the so-called civilized nations, whether male or female, black or white, will not only be able to read and write," says Justice Winslow, "but will have such general knowledge on subjects connected with his occupation or the general welfare, or both, that he will be able to discuss and take a more or less intelligent part in the social and political movements of the time."
Justice Winslow says that the initiative, referendum, recall, the equal suffrage movement are manifestations of the overwhelming spirit of the time.
"Some of them may prove to be mere experiments which will be abandoned after trial," he says, "but some other have come or will come to stay, and unless all signs fail, other changes which will tend to bring the administration of governmental affairs more quickly and completely within the control of the electorate, will at no distant day, be added to them, and ultimately be incorporated in our state and national governments."
Where democracy is given such sweeping control in the hands of the people, Justice Winslow points out, the necessity of a well educated electorate of good moral character. Speaking of social conditions, he says:
"We will find little room for growth in a community where prevalent living wages, healthful homes, equal opportunities, innocent amusements for young and old and social justice; where the slum, the bawdy house and the indecent show do not exist."

DRAINAGE DISTRICTS REDUCE MARSH LAND

Wisconsin Reclamation Work Has Placed Under Cultivation Large Areas Says Whitson.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 10.—About two and one-half million acres, or approximately 7 per cent of Wisconsin's land area, is marsh land, according to A. R. Whitson of the college of agriculture, speaking before the drainage conference which continued its sessions today. About one-quarter of this marsh area has been organized into drainage districts and plans are under way for its improvement. He said that heretofore estimates of the value of such lands have been based on the degree of drainage and the cost to the owner, without considering the quality of the land itself. The college has, in connection with the Soil Survey, endeavored to classify marsh lands in such a way as to permit taking their relative value before and after drainage into consideration in the distribution of the benefits.

SOLDIERS ALLOWED TO VISIT FAMILIES

Sir John French, Allows Members of Troops, Stationed in England Awaiting Service to Visit Homes.
(Correspondence of The A. P.)
Aldershot, Eng., Dec. 10.—As the result of recent orders given by Sir John French, the families of regular troops stationed here have been delightfully surprised by visits from relatives direct from the front. These men are given leave from the trenches and most of them elect to spend the time with their families.

Wives of sergeant majors, who disappeared of seeing their husbands before the end of the war, have been surprised by the receipt of telegrams from new recruits informing them of the home coming. These husbands arrive looking as spry and span as when they marched away to the war, for the men are selected from the regiments which have been moved to the rear of the battle line to give the soldiers a chance to clean up and receive fresh uniforms. It is expected that later whole units will be given holidays and the soldier in the trenches, according to one officer just returned from the front, has no rosier anticipation than the prospect of an afternoon at a football game followed by the evening at a music hall.

SOLDIERS RESPECT ABILITY OF ENEMY

English, Declared by Germans, to be Toughest Fighters and Bravest
Foe to Battle.

(Correspondence of The A. P.)
Berlin, Dec. 10.—Evidence of the respect of German officers and soldiers for the enemy is shown by the tendency to be little the fighting abilities of the enemy continue to accumulate.

Soldiers' letters and returning soldiers speak in terms of high appreciation of the military prowess and soldierly qualities of their opponents and among several hundred soldiers with whom the correspondent of The Associated Press has talked in his visits to hospitals the last night no one was found who resented the enemy in general.
English, French and Belgian and Russian with bravery and military skill.

Defections are drawn, it is true, the British being generally reckoned as the toughest opponents on the west front.

The Germans had a high opinion of the fighting quality of the French before this war began. The fighting which occurred on the march from the Belgian frontier to the Marne and Paris tended to lower their respect for toughness of French men, but the last two months have changed that again and soldiers were noticed increased respect for them.

The recent fighting of the German army has greatly raised the German estimation of the Belgian soldier. In the general army estimation, but not greatly distinguished himself at Lodz, Namur and Antwerp and the intervening hold engagements.

As to the British, field post letters continue to bear out the statement from a German export as to their robust fighting quality. One of the latest of these letters, printed in the Colonial Gazette, contains the following striking passage:

"People at home appear to have wrong notions about the fighting qualities of the enemy. The English are the toughest and bravest, too we have to fight. Every individual man is not taken prisoner and these trained veterans shoot well. When we storm a position the French will run when we close in with our shouts of 'hurrah,' but the English stick tenaciously to their entrenchments to the last."

Dunzer's Anzeigenschein, the leading military publication of Austria, pays a high tribute to the Serbian, Belgian and Russian troops. The Serbians are called brave, but declaration is made that they are without food and ammunition. Credit is given the Belgians for standing with England and France "when they must have realized that their own cause was inevitably lost." The press is criticized for its attacks on the Russians, saying they are brave and capable.

"Cute."
The word "cute," which is a shortened form of acute, is not classical English, and it is not to be wondered at that you failed to find it in the dictionaries you consulted. It is a colloquial Americanism and might almost be classed as slang. It has two meanings. In the first place it means clever, especially in looking out for one's own advantage in potty ways, shrewd, smart, as "a cute trick." It also means small and pretty, attractive, as "a cute baby," "a cute little watch."

Your time is worth too much to you to make a personal canvass in Jameville. A few minutes will give you at a glance the offers of the best real estate firms in the city. These appear in Gazette Want.

PRINCE OF WALES ON WAY TO THE FRONT

This picture, taken some days ago in London, shows the Prince of Wales on his way to join the British expeditionary forces in France. The young heir to the throne is now with General French. King George recently went to France also. Here he joined his son and the two made a tour of the base hospitals.

BRITISH OUTLOOKS TRY TO LOCATE SNIPERS WHO HARASS ALLIES

German snipers have harassed the forces of the allies to such an extent that details of men have been assigned to the task of locating and "potting" the snipers. Photo shows one of these details of British fighters searching a leafy field where one of the snipers, dressed in khaki to make it more difficult to find him, is known to be hidden. The men are standing in trenches in order to protect themselves against any surprising shots from the sniper's gun.
